September 2021 Newsletter

Introduction:

With recent events in Afghanistan coupled with China's Communist Party expansionist plans at a time of American domestic turmoil has been reflected in the inevitable forced review of Australia's foreign and domestic policies. De-industrialisation of Australia over the past 40 years has left the nation in a precarious self sufficiency condition. The purpose behind the establishment of the CNI by BA (Bob) Santamaria in 1985 was to develop policies for the National Interest covering all aspects of government covering foreign affairs, immigration, defence, agriculture, manufacturing, mining, energy, water resources and the interlacing political objectives to maintain a stable democratic sovereign nation. The CNI has always supported an Australian manufacturing industry and current global conditions are encouraging a review and reflection on the policy papers produced over the past 35 years.

A sovereign nation must be able to feed itself, house itself, clothe itself and defend itself or be at the mercy of any and every aggressor. Australia has to undertake a lot of building and restructuring to protect itself from external forces willing to do our nation harm. The fragile supply chain in recent times has highlighted our vulnerability to intimidation and bullying by friends and foes.

Voter ID:

Voter identification has been a constant refrain by the CNI which has been exemplified by the recent 2020 US Presidential election result. Dedicated anti-Trumpers deny any tampering with the election process however the evidence slowly unfolding is sufficient to confirm the 2020 US election was the most fraudulent of any American Presidential election. There were no frauds from the winner's perspective which is to be expected in any political race for high office with the subsequent bounty flowing to the successful party.

With a compliant media just deny and deny and enjoy the political rewards flowing from the process. The losers were the American people and their allies of the Anglosphere. If a contest is based upon interest, tyranny wins. If the contest is based upon values, democracy wins.

Here in Australia successive Joint Senate Select Committee enquiries held after each Federal election has consistently highlighted up to 20,000 fraudulent votes being cast without voter identification. When an electorate is won by less than 100 votes it is imperative the votes be legitimate otherwise Australians will lose faith in the electoral process. The same sex marriage postal plebiscite of November 2017 resulted in 248,000 envelopes marked 'return to sender', an irregularity never investigated by the Australian Electoral Commission.

The CNI will continue to promote voter ID to protect the value of each Australian citizen's vote. Every false vote diminishes the value of a legitimate casting vote. Australians should set the right to vote at a high standard after thousands of Australian servicemen paid the supreme sacrifice securing our democracy. Australian values are constantly being diminished by immigrant cultures totally incompatible with our Christian Western Civilisation values and culture. Contributing to the national wealth, learning the English language and adopting our cultural values need to be prerequisites to full citizenship and voting rights.

The lessons of over 100 years of integration and assimilation to achieve one of the most open and free societies in the world have been discarded on the altar of pandering to incompatible religious ideologies and cultures. When were "New Australians" replaced by "Hyphenated – Australians"?

To understand and comprehend Australia's values a reading of Augusto Zimmermann's book "Christian Foundations of the Common Law Vol 3, Australia" is highly recommended. Perth based Professor Zimmermann has written an enlightening easy to read book as a start to understanding how the nation is undermined by way of multiple cultures. Cheapening our democratic values will ultimately undermine our national cohesion, a process already embarked upon by marxist culture and the one world government being promoted by the United Nations organisation.

American Security Umbrella:

The events currently unfolding in Afghanistan with the mismanagement of the American withdrawal is a potential trigger for a major crisis. Australia will suffer the consequences of relying upon American power for our security and our de-industrialisation over the past 40 years. Lazy globalist policies have strangled our nation's inventiveness and dynamic enthusiasm. Our political elite have lined their pockets at the expense of the ordinary Aussie who will now face the burden of rebuilding an independent and resourceful nation. The recent development of the Quad Security Dialogue with India, Australia, Japan and the USA is a late development but also highlights how negligent our Defence Policy has been over many years by successive Australian governments. Australia needs the security blanket provided by the Americans which has been the basis of our defence policy since WW2, but always being prepared to stand up to big brother when their policies are at odds with our nation's strategic survival.

Unfortunately the bungled American withdrawal from Afghanistan was a deliberate action in keeping with the marxist march through the institutions. Embarrass the military and demoralise the public, overwhelm the borders with culturally incompatible refugees with hidden jihadists flowing in on a flood of compassion. Leave behind $115 billion AUD in weapons to outfit the Islamic jihadist regime and their muslim neighbours to wreak havoc on their enemies, Australia included.

The way ahead for America is to purge the military of all marxist believers and promote true patriots to positions of power and authority. Twenty years of traitorous military leadership has left America and its allies vulnerable to the one world order. Enough of diversity, equality and gender confusion and return to a battle focused military force. It is a tough act being the leader of the free world when the competing rising power of China operates from a Capitalistic Communist playbook creating two conflicting incompatible systems.

An American Prophecy is unfolding which authors William Strauss and Neil Howe eloquently expressed in their 1997 book "The Fourth Turning". Based upon their Saeculum, a unit of time of 80 to 100 years in which we experience 4 turnings, America is entering a 4th turning "crisis" stage defined by their analysis as being immigration, Islamisation and financial decay. Their prophecy appears quite accurate with a southern border open to uncontrolled immigration, a flood of culturally incompatible muslims under President Obama positioning Muslim Brotherhood into positions of power and influence, and a financial system printing vast sums in the trillions of dollars contributing to a deficit of explosive bubble proportions.

Despite the mistakes made by the US we live in a dangerous world and our long relationship with the United States is still needed to protect Australia from strategic adversaries.

The current crop of politicians need to be put out to pasture and a leader with the nation's best interest at heart, beholden to the people and not big business is a desirable start.

Political Leadership Vacuum:

The WA Liberals are now navel gazing over their sad demise as a potent political force after losing to Mark "Saving Lives" McGowan and the Labor Party at the 2021 election. The Liberals would have had a difficult time countering the brain-washed voters soaking up the mantra of McGowan 'saving lives'. Labor played that refrain for all it was worth assisted by poor leadership at the Liberal's Parliamentary and Lay Party levels. Poor leadership is only one aspect of the party's demise as disenchanting conservatives yearn for representation of Menzies forgotten people. In his radio speech of 22 May 1942 Menzies spoke of the middle class representing responsibility for homes material, human, and spiritual. Homes material is an expression of the habits of frugality and saving for a home of our own.

Homes human is where wife and children are. And a simple question as to how can I qualify my son to help society? To fulfil their destiny we must have frugality and saving for education and progress. We have homes spiritual where human nature is at its greatest when it combines dependence upon God with independence of man. The moment a man seeks moral and intellectual refuge in the emotions of a crowd, he ceases to be a human being and becomes a cipher. The term middle class excludes the rich and powerful, who control great funds and enterprises, in most material difficulties the rich can look after themselves. Also excluded are the unskilled, but we must provide conditions which will enable them to acquire skill and knowledge and individuality.

The Liberal Party ignored the family as the basis of our society and as a consequence has promoted policies which are not family friendly, particularly for single income parents. Policies promoting no fault divorce, same sex marriage and transgenderism are morally detrimental to society. This moral degradation started in the 1960's with rampant pornography and today moves for legalisation of paedophilia are almost inevitable. Where has the party led the middle class in regard to pornography, divorce, marriage, abortion, euthanasia and more to follow? The Liberals will bounce back, however the challenge is to prevent the haemorrhaging of conservative voters to the minor parties by promoting Australia for everyone and not for special interest groups such as environmentalists and climate alarmists.

The Australian Labor Party is not much better and a good review of Brian Peachey's book "Has the light on the Hill gone out, The demise of the ALP" will enlighten the reader of the Labor Party baggage. 16th Prime Minister Ben Chifley (1885-1951) made his famous Light on the Hill speech at the ALP Conference on 12th June 1949. The phrase was used to describe the objective of the ALP.

Covid-19

In the CNI February 2021 Newsletter an article on Hydroxychloroquine and Ivermectin was a lead into the question as to why the medical "experts" are so adamant that experimental inoculations using new untested gene technology is the only way forward in this contrived pandemic.

The world's population is being used as a giant laboratory experiment to test the performance of an injection which has not been authorised for use under special experimental emergency authorisation (EUA). This inoculation has bypassed all normal tests which are designed to ensure the injected material has minimal negative reaction, or at least identified those humans who should not partake in such an experiment.

What is so intriguing is the overwhelming denial by health authorities in the Western world over the proven clinical success of readily available, cheap and effective alternative treatments. Ivermectin and HCQ would be circuit breakers in the spread of an infection which is no more deadly than the annual influenza infection.

Of course we know if these viable alternative treatments were acknowledged governments could no longer use these EUA's and these experimental vaccines would become worthless. Stating the success of Sweden not entering lockdowns, or the failure of Israel with 80% inoculations continuing to record significant numbers of infections among the already vaccinated is met with disbelief.

The total denial by health authorities is astounding, which unfortunately has resulted in a brain-washed public so divided to accept the totalitarian premise of no jab, no job, or no jab, no travel etc. Quoting data and statistics to a brain-washed public is rapidly becoming a waste of time and effort. For an understanding of Australia's descent into a totalitarian hell is to understand MASS PSYCHOSIS the nation is experiencing. Recommended viewing is the video Mass Psychosis from the Academy of Ideas by After Skool, simply explained but devastating in its impact on society.

The world is experiencing totalitarianism as the modern phenomenon of a total centralised state power coupled with the obliteration of individual rights; in the totalised state there are those who are in power and there are the objectified masses, the victims. The rulers and the ruled is a transformation of human nature into the reorganising and manipulation of collective feelings called menticide, the killing of the mind. ( Joost Meerloo, Rape of the Mind) This is the sowing of fear, the end is near, a technique of promoting waves of terror. Fear-Calm-Fear-Calm and the effect is that morality declines. Propaganda is promoted by fake news, lies and contradiction. The big lie monotonously repeated will have more of an emotional appeal than logic or reason. While people are searching for a reasonable counter argument, the first lie totalitarians launch an assault with another lie. (Anthony Fauci – Mask, No Mask, Double Masks) Never before in history have totalitarians had such mass coverage by smart phones, television, social media and the internet all in conjunction to easily assault the minds of the masses. This addictive technology allows voluntary acceptance without reflection. With no rest, no meditation, no reflection, no conversation results in senses being continuously overloaded with stimuli and as a consequence man doesn't learn to question his world anymore. The screen offers him already made answers.

Enforced isolation removes human interaction which easily enforces new behaviour as a condition reflex (Pavlov's Dog Experiment). Isolation and the patient repetition of stimuli are required to tame wild animals. Totalitarians are following the same rule, they know they can condition their political victims most quickly if they are kept in isolation to effect total confusion by the masses. The elite totalitarians offer the only way out, give up your freedom and cede all aspects of your life to the elite, obey, submit and descent into a collective psychosis. Whether gradually or suddenly reason and common human decency are no longer possible. In such a system there is only a pervasive atmosphere of terror and projection of the enemy imagined to be "in our midst", society turns on itself urged on by ruling authorities. This condition breeds stagnation, destruction and death on a mass scale.

Soviet Union, Romania, China, Cambodia and Cuba are just a few examples of totalitarian rule descending into mass psychosis. Australia is suffering from the early stages of this mass psychosis with mass displays (50,000 in Sydney 29 Aug 2021) against lockdown and enforced vaccinations being characterised as right wing extremism. Authorities heavy handedness using police against ordinary people with lack of mainstream media coverage. Vaccinated versus unvaccinated is but another step along the path to tyranny. Australians need to wake up to the danger our nation is facing.

We appreciate that many people will have alternative views but, in the interest of democracy there does need to be a more transparent discussion around the different viewpoints.

Forum – TOPIC: The Aboriginal Industry:

The next CNI Forum is on the topic of the Aboriginal Industry with speaker Dr Marion Hercock. Scheduled for Sunday 19th September 2021, 2.30pm at Royal Perth Yacht Club, Crawley Bay, Nedlands. What does an aboriginal industry mean for Western Australia? An analysis showing how public policy has led to a divided Australia. For an Australian Sovereign Nation where is this Aboriginal Industry leading? Who will be the winners and losers in this manipulation of history and culture?

Dr Marion Hercock is a geographer and editor with the Western Australian Explorers' Diaries Project. Her PhD (UWA) was in the disciplines of Geography and Political Science (Public Policy Analysis) In business with husband Joe Bryant they conducted remote area tours bringing them into contact with the 'Aboriginal Industry' and the complexities it created for running outback tours. Marion's presentation will challenge the promotion of Aboriginal Nationhood.
